

iRidium Gate

the universal gateway intended to expand control possibilities of some equipment types. In particular, iRidium Gate enables operation via the Internet and connection of several clients to those types of equipment supported by iRidium which cannot provide this possibility.